The Energizer Couple

A newly-married couple who share a love for good food & wine and love having friends over. She paints her visions; he spins artistry on authentic vinyl. They are Ying and Yang with a passion for life. House parties or cross-fit, it's the balance in life they value the most.

More is better when cheering for your team on sports night.

The Nuclear Couple

A well-settled family of three that love doing things together. They do a lot as a family; take trips to exotic places or the nearest reserves to look for tigers. They help their kid with homework and play board games on weekends. They arrange play dates and teach their kid to share.

Make every night board game night.

The Nester Couple

They've crossed the hills and everything else that stood in their way. Morning walks together, and evenings pursuing their interests, respecting each other's space. Grandkids and friends flow through the warmth of their home without making plans. They make up for lost time with their hobbies & interests. They know each other's quirks, their habits and how they take their tea.

Retirement is living it up.
