SPACE ECONOMICS OF HM INDIGO

Among the many luxuries we enjoy at HM Indigo, space is perhaps the most abundant. The architects and designers (Singapore's renowned Jurong Consultants) have conceptualized and designed the Master Plan of your mixed use enclave on the same principles which governed the ancient and super-advanced cities of Harappa and Mohenjodaro. The individual floor plans of your homes are designed by architects, designers and urban planners, Shop Design. Combining the science of space, with aesthetics and artistry; this combination is a mix unlike any other which we call Spaceeconomics! Here is a glimpse of the expert planning and insightful design:

Intensive Radial Plan: HM Indigo boasts a multi-dimensional approach to urban organization. The project is seen to be in a state of constant flux, composed of shifting layers that revolve around a central axis; a centrifugal structure that evokes kaleidoscopic memories of transit through zones of fluid space. The inspiration for the plan, has resulted in a generous allotment of open spaces in the central portion of the modern master plan.

Spacious Vacant Spaces: Vacant places have been planned and left between the buildings for the purpose of fresh air circulation and consequent preservation of health.

Expansive Interactive Spaces: These spaces have been planned for community interaction. So each block has been planned with open-to-sky courtyards, to ensure balance between individuality and community living.

SGRC (Solar Glare Regulation Co-efficient) Compatibility: The building is planned immaculately, tucking areas within the home, based on the solar heat that is required. The outside temperature is 10000 lux in Bangalore, while ideal comfortable temperature is 200-400 lux. The design is such wherein the solar heat is availed and not borrowed.

Ideal spacing: Spatial towers designed wherein the nearest opposite tower is at 72 ft. distance and the farthest is 130 ft. away.

Jurong Consultants, Singapore: For over 5 decades, Jurong Consultants from Singapore have been spearheading construction of townships, economic zones, bioscience facilities, marine and infrastructure developments, residential and recreational programmes. Today the company's spread over 149 cities in 47 countries; with expert Consultancy, Design & Build and Facilities Management services! From start to finish, JURONG International is all about innovation. Through their collective knowledge, experience and skills, Jurong is inspired to create bold solutions that truly unlock their growth potential.

Shadow planning: This process has been carried out considering the length and direction of the shadow of the building, depending on the elevation (altitude) and azimuth angle of the sun. Thereby, ensuring minimized direct sunlight while walking through the driveways.

Sunlight Regulation: Spider design footprint has been implemented for each block, so that every one of them naturally draws and regulates the direct sunlight at the desired locations within the reach of the home.

Energy Saving open spaces: The basic premise followed here is that hot air stays out and cold air cannot escape. Thermostats that have been installed, thereby, cut off sooner, saving energy, up to 30% in most cases. These open spaces inside our homes even create architectural features through the interplay of size and design. They even serve the purpose of blocking the invasion of horizontal rain that spears in on the back of high-velocity winds.

Spaceeconomics Floor plan: Every inch of our homes is simply immaculate in every way!

1. Circulation area in any apartment is between 1-8% of the area.
2. All living/dining areas have no intermediate beams.
3. Flexibility to adopt king-sized apartments with minimal invasion of walls converting to 6 bedroom plan.
4. Oriented to Engineering and construction viability through column efficiency.

Shop Design, Bangalore: Shop design has built the reputation as an astute collection of experts who respond sensitively to the urban fabric of cities and regions by combining knowledge and experience with creative design solutions. They have embraced the disciplines of architecture, interior design, town planning and urban design. Driven by the quest to create the perfect urban 'nest' – it views the home as a sacred living space. It reinterprets themes of love and spirituality through everyday objects that define our modern way of life. Shop Design is about people, values, ideas and relishment of the prospect of collaboration with others who are interested in meeting the challenges of our times.
